BOVRIL DEFIES DISEASE

The fact that over 500 British hospitals and kindred public institutions use and prescribe Bovril is sufficient in itself to prove that it fortifies the system against disease. As rats infest a dirty, unhealthy tenement, so disease will instal itself in a deranged system and take a hold. Bovril shakes the grip when disease is there by making clean, healthy blood; the attack weakens, the microbes die, and Bovril is triumphant. But do not use Bovril only to expel; rather prepare your system against the attack of disease by using it to invigorate, and create clean and wholesome blood and organs. The result will please you.

BOVRIL is an energising and sustaining beverage, which by its merits has become a household word from one end of the world to the other. Just as the electric light has surpassed the rushlight of our grandmothers, so Bovril has surpassed the meat extracts and beef teas of a quarter of a century ago. It is the culmination of scientific achievement in the production of a strengthening, nourishing and vitalising food beverage. In health, Bovril is a shield against the effects of a muggy, humid climate; in weakness, a substitute for regular meals; and in sickness, the right hand of the doctor and nurse in their efforts to provide the patient with true nourishing (food, readily taken, palatable, and digestible).

in the time now available, for an adequate or additional water storage capacity should there be a short rainfall this season, so as to safeguard the rate-payers and the people from again next year suffering the inconveniences and evils arising out of a water famine, and state how much additional water storage has been provided, if any, since the 1st of January this year, and how much additional storage it is estimated will be provided between now and 31st January, 1903?

REPLIES.
The Colonial Secretary said that with regard to the first question, respecting the information requested from the Indian Government, it would be furnished to the Council when received. With regard to the second question, the answer to that was that the matter was still under consideration.

The Hon. Chatham said that with regard to Number 3, the Government recognised the value of the suggestion contained in the question, but in view of possible difficulties could only promise, at present, that the matter would receive full and early consideration. The result would be communicated to the Council in due course. The reply to number 4 was, that this Government recognises the importance of reserving all stream courses and nullahs, wherever practicable. In the case, however, of some it was impracticable, and it was therefore undesirable to lay down any such rule as that proposed. In reply to number 5, the honourable member said that the question was applicable at the time, and the Government was taking every step to render the distribution of water easy throughout the Colony. Replying to number 6, he said the work was now in progress for the construction of another storage reservoir, at Tytan, which would probably be, to some extent, available by the 31st January, 1903. The full capacity of the reservoir would be about 30 million gallons. The experience of 1900 had shown that it was of greater importance to increase the drainage area in order to take full advantage of the existing storage capacity of the reservoirs, which were not filled during that year. With that object, a catch water had been constructed along the south slopes of Mount Cameron, intercepting a drainage area of about 150 acres. The stream which would be impounded by the reservoir now under construction at Tytan, had been diverted into the gauging basin rendering available a further area of about 30 to 40 acres for catchment purposes. Small channels to render available the dry weather flow of the streams intercepted by the existing catchwaters, were also in course of construction.

FAREWELL TO THE HON. T. H. WHITEHEAD.

BANQUET AT THE CITY HALL.

The Chinese commercial community of Hongkong are ever ready to testify their appreciation of the labours of fellow citizens, and on several occasions during the past few weeks they have assembled to bid farewell to prominent gentlemen, whose endeavours on behalf of the Colony and its native commercial community have been enlisted in a most fitting manner. At the City Hall last evening, over 150 gentlemen sat down to a banquet given by the Chinese commercial community in honour of the Hon. Thomas Henderson Whitehead, the manager of the Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China, who left for home to-day to undertake the management of the London office. No pains had been spared to make the function a success and the manner in which the committee worked to ensure that end is deserving of every praise. The entrance to the building, the hall, and the grand staircase were specially decorated for the occasion a noticeable work being a coloured view of Hongkong surmounted by an illuminated floral design, bearing the motto "Dieu et Mon Droit." In the banquet room the decorators had been busy with flags, flowers and evergreens and produced a simple though effective work.

Shortly after half-past seven the company sat down to dine, Mr. Ho Fook presiding in the enforced absence, through indisposition, of Mr. Ho Tung. On his right sat His Excellency Sir William Gossage and on his left the guest of the evening, the Hon. T. H. Whitehead. Others present included Captain the Hon. H. W. Trefusis, A.D.C., Mr. R. F. Johnston, Hon. F. H. May (Colonial Secretary), His Honour W. Meigh Goodman (Chief Justice), Hon. A. G. Wise (Acting Attorney-General), Hon. R. Murray Rumsey (Harbour Master), Hon. A. M. Thomson (Colonial Treasurer), Hon. F. J. Baderley (Captain Superintendent of Police), Hon. C. W. Dickson, Hon. C. S. Sharp, Hon. E. R. Hallifax, Messrs R. C. Wilcox, E. A. Hewitt, V. A. C. Hawkins, Taro Hodsumi, H. Schottlaender, G. W. F. Playfair, J. W. R. Taylor, G. Mayer, D. M. Moses, A. J. Raymond, D. E. Brown, G. H. Medhurst, J. H. Lewis, Professor Simpson, Messrs. D. R. Law, T. P. Cochrane, W. A. Cruickshank, H. Schubart, A. H. Rennie, A. Cunningham, T. H. Reid, E. F. Skerchby, Major A. B. Hamilton, D.A.A.G., Messrs. E. Goetz, Leung Shiu Kong, Wong Kam Fok, Leung Pui Chi, Yung Tat Fong, Liao Tsz Shan, Yung Yik Ting, Tam Tsz Kong, Kwok Sin Lau, Sin Tak Fan, Chan He-wan, Un Lai Chuen, Lo Kun Ting, Lau Wai Chuen, Kan Tin Hong, Tong Lai Chun, Ho Kom Tong, Lo Cheung Shiu, Tang Chi Ngong, Lau Chin Ting, Leung Hiu Chao, Wong Leung Him, Fung Shau Shan, Pang Shau Chun, and others, and the representatives of the local Press.

An excellent dinner was purveyed by Mr. Wm. Farmer of Messrs. Madar and Farmer, New Victoria Hotel, the menu being as follows:—

HORS D'OEUVRES.	Caviare on Toast.
SUP.	Birds' Nest. Turtle.
FISH.	Boiled Salmon.
ENTREES.	Grilled Fillet of Beef and Chipped Potatoes.
JOINTS.	Quail in Aspic.

CHIPPED POTATOES.	DESSERT.
CHIPPED POTATOES.	Fruit in Season.
CHIPPED POTATOES.	TEA AND COFFEE.
CHIPPED POTATOES.	CHEESE.

At the conclusion of dinner, the toast-list was entered upon.

The Chairman gave the toasts of "His Majesty the King," "Her Majesty the Queen and Other Members of the Royal Family, which were loyally pledged.

In introducing Mr. Leung Shiu Kong to propose the toast of the evening, the Chairman read a letter which he had received from his brother, Mr. Ho Tung, explaining that it was with the utmost regret that he was compelled to be absent that evening on account of ill-health. Nothing, he said, would have given him greater pleasure than to have been present, but he had been obliged to obey the orders of his medical adviser. Proceeding, the Chairman said that Mr. Leung Shiu Kong had been chosen to propose the principal toast of the evening, because he delivered a very good speech on the last occasion they met to do honour to Sir Thomas Jackson. (Applause.)

"OUR GUEST."

Mr. Leung Shiu Kong then proposed the toast of the evening. He said:—Your Excellency, gentlemen,—In the unavoidable absence of several of the senior members of our community, the honour falls upon me to propose a toast, which is not only the toast of the evening, but is, I can most sincerely say without the slightest misgiving, the toast of the whole of this vast and cosmopolitan community, namely, the health of the Honourable Thomas Henderson Whitehead. (Applause.) As you know, gentlemen, in this prosperous Colony of ours, we have residents of many nationalities, British, Chinese, Portuguese, Indians, and, as we are all glad to see, a large and increasing number of foreign residents, all of whom are engaged in developing and consolidating this small but vigorous off-spring of the great British Empire.

A representative gathering of this sort is compelled to have its limitations, but I am justified in saying that all those men of the various nationalities I have mentioned, who know anything of the history of this Colony during the last twelve years would, if they could be present, join with you in that enthusiastic reception you have just accorded to the name of our distinguished and popular guest, Mr. Whitehead's ambition as a public man has been to work for the public good, and though it is possible that some, even of our official friends, may sometimes take exception to Mr. Whitehead's many efforts, yet, looking back since 1890, all will agree that no man in the history of this Colony has ever championed the cause of the community so zealously, so consistently and so independently, and so successfully, as he has done. This is not the first occasion, as many of you are aware, that the Chinese community of Hongkong have testified in a representative gathering their appreciation of the labours of Mr. Whitehead on their behalf. There are many present to-night whose privilege it was to attend a meeting in the City Hall in May, 1894, when Mr. Whitehead was presented with an address, a Chinese silk banner scroll, and a set of silver plate by the Chinese merchants of Hongkong in acknowledgment of his many public services as a member of the Legislative Council of Hongkong and in recognition of his worth. I may be excused if I quote one paragraph from that address, which said: "The Chinese have learned from their observation of your action in the Legislative Council to understand better and value more highly the principles and practice of representative Government. They have seen how much good may be done by even one intelligent, energetic and independent representative in obtaining explanations and information to which the community has a right, in bringing abuses to light, in remedying mistakes, in promoting improvements, in checking expenditure, and in preventing extravagance and waste." (Applause.) Gentlemen, if that was the feeling of the Chinese community after an experience of four and a half years of his value, how greatly enhanced must be our appreciation of his life and work to-day when he is concluding 12 years' service. (Applause.) Again in 1900 when Mr. Whitehead was leaving the Colony on short furlough to England—Scotland I should say—was presented by the Chinese community with a testimonial, which served to place on record once more "our high appreciation and grateful acknowledgment of the valuable services which he had rendered Hongkong and the Chinese since 1890, both in the Legislative Council and out of the Council." Even the presentation of testimonials must come to an end, when our vocabulary is exhausted and the virtues of the recipient have become too much for us—(laughter)—but few of us who attended that presentation in 1900, thought we should have the honour so soon again of publicly entertaining Mr. Whitehead, and, I hesitate to mention it, of possible bidding him farewell for good. We cannot help thinking as business men that if he goes to London to manage the head of his magnificent banking institution, that his worth will cause his permanent retention; and whilst we one and all sincerely hope that it will be so, yet none will regret his absence more than the Chinese community. (Applause.) No man has ever merited success in the battle of life more than our guest, and assuming, though I confess with the greatest reluctance, that he will leave us to remain in London, I think it not out of place to mention a few facts of Mr. Whitehead's career, for which I am indebted to one of his many friends, and which should serve every young man in this Colony as an example of what pluck, care, industry and perseverance may ensure to those who hope for success. I trust he will excuse me if I relate a career which to many will be of much interest. Mr. Whitehead served an apprenticeship of four years in the office of a firm of solicitors in Scotland, from 1867 to 1871, and this was followed by 18 months' experience in a mercantile office in Liverpool, from 1871 to 1873. He joined the London office of the Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China in 1873 on probation for service abroad, and was appointed an Assistant Accountant in the Bombay office in September, 1874. He was transferred to the Calcutta agency in 1875, and from there in that autumn to the Bank's Shanghai Branch. He was promoted Accountant and, transferred to the Bombay agency in 1877, and remained there through the crisis which followed the collapse of the City of Glasgow Bank until the Spring of 1880, when he was appointed Agent at Hankow. He was transferred thither to Japan in August, 1880, to open a new agency of the Bank at Yokohama. In the Spring of 1881 he was appointed temporarily to the Shanghai Branch, and from there to Hankow Branch for the tea-season. In that autumn he was transferred to the Straits and had charge of the Singapore Branch until March, 1882. After that he was for a short period at Saigon, then in charge of the Hongkong Branch during April-May, and of the Foochow agency until August, 1882, when he went home on furlough via America, and reported on business to his London Office between that country and the Far East. He returned from Europe in October, 1883, and has continued in charge of the Hongkong branch since that year until the present time. He was elected by the Hongkong General Chamber of Commerce to the Legislative Council in 1890, and would have completed his second term of office in the Council in September of this year. He was mainly responsible in getting up the Petition from the Ratepayers in Hongkong to the House of Commons asking for reform, and a system of representative Government. He was entrusted with the Petition, while on furlough to Europe, in 1894-95, and addressed the Colonial Party on the subject in one of the Committee-rooms of the House of Commons in March, 1895. He had several interviews with Lord Ripon, then Secretary for the Colonies, advocated Hongkong's cause in letters to the London Times. In February, 1895, he read and important paper on "The critical position of trade with silver-using countries" under the auspices of the Royal Colonial Institute, and before resuming charge of the Hongkong Branch in the autumn of 1895, he was sent on a mission to North China and Peking, which lasted several months. In September, 1898, Mr. Whitehead proceeded to Eastern Siberia on a month's vacation but on arrival at Vladivostok he was asked by the Directors to return to the agencies of the Bank in Japan. He returned to Hongkong in February, 1899 and after inspecting the Bank's branches in North China in the Spring of 1900 went home overland through Siberia and by the great Trans-Siberian Railway. The Hongkong General Chamber of Commerce appointed him one of its delegates to the Fourth Congress of the Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, held in London in June, 1899, but as he was delayed by the shallowness of the water in the Amoor and Shilka rivers, he did not arrive in London until July. While in England he delivered two important lectures under the auspices of the Incorporated Liverpool Chamber of Commerce and the Royal Institute in London. Simultaneously he returned to his first love on 31st January, 1901, and was admitted a member of the most Honourable Society of the Middle Temple. He attended the Hilary term and ate the usual number of dinners. He left London in February, 1901, and visited New York, Washington, Mexico, the Pacific Coast, and the Philippine Islands, in connection with the Bank's business before resuming charge of his duties in Hongkong in July, 1901. He has served on many Commissions and Committees, including the enquiry into working of the Tung Wa Hospital, the Po Leung Kuk Society, Insanitary Properties Commission, &c., &c. During his career in Hongkong Mr. Whitehead has appeared before the public in two capacities, namely, as the representative of the Chamber of Commerce on the Legislative Council, and as the Manager of one of the leading banking institutions here. I have already given a brief résumé of his work on the Council, and it would be impossible on this occasion to allude to it, in but general terms. Mr. Whitehead modestly thinks that there are as good fish in the sea as ever came out of it, and we all hope and trust that it may be found to be so, but I am afraid without disparaging the efforts of others, that it will be some time before we shall be able to secure on the Legislative Council a representative of such sturdy independence and sterling worth as himself, and one having the interests of every section of the community so much at heart. (Applause.) Yes, gentlemen, the community will miss him and the Government will miss him, for I take it that they profited a little from his trenchant searching and able criticism. (Applause.) I am sure that we were all delighted to see that in spite of his independence the Government had at last decided to honour him by appointing him to be a member of the Executive Council. It was a well-deserved tribute of the confidence of the Government in his integrity, and we can only regret that he has not been allowed to further justify that selection. (Applause.) As a banker, Mr. Whitehead has secured the highest esteem and admiration of the Chinese mercantile community, an appreciation second only to that of the celebrated head of the other leading banking institution, whom we had the honour and privilege to entertain only recently on his departure. What was said of Sir Thomas Jackson as a banker may be also said of Mr. Whitehead. The local branch of his bank has likewise grown with the development of the Colony, the prosperity of which, and of us all is bound up in the solidarity of these two institutions. In the testimonial given to Mr. Whitehead by the Chinese community in 1900, a clause ran: "You may safely assure your Directors that The Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China stands as high as any Bank in the East in the estimation and opinion of the Chinese in Hongkong, and that it owes its position and prestige here to your high character and able management." I need hardly say that we all re-echo this statement to-day. (Applause.) In conclusion, gentlemen, I ask you to join with me in wishing long life and prosperity to the Honourable Thomas Henderson Whitehead. If he can be spared from his London office we hope and trust to see him in our midst again representing us and working for us with even renewed vigour. (Applause.) If he cannot come back, then I trust that we shall one day have the pleasure of seeing him in the Legislative Assembly of the Empire—(applause)—pursuing his same useful, disinterested work, and if that should come to pass, as many of us hope and trust it will, then we may depend upon it that when the affairs of the Colony come before the House of Commons, Mr. Whitehead will not be unmindful of those who witnessed and rejoiced in his prosperity. Gentlemen, I ask you to drink with me the health of the Honourable Thomas Henderson Whitehead (loud applause).

MR. WHITEHEAD'S REPLY.

In rising to respond, the Hon. T. H. Whitehead, was received with a loud outburst of applause. After it had subsided he said:—
Mr. Chairman and friends—I am sure you will all heartily agree with me in the reason and cause that prevent our esteemed friend Mr. Ho Tung from being present with us to-night. I saw him two days ago on his sick-bed, and he then assured me that if the doctors would allow him he would be with us to-night. I especially deplore his absence because he, one of my oldest friends in Hongkong and a man of highly esteem. (Applause.) I trust sincerely that he will soon be restored to his usual good health, inasmuch as he may safely be regarded as one of the pillars of progress and one of the pillars of Hongkong. (Applause.) Before attempting to reply to the eloquent speech to which we have just listened, I desire to cordially express my hearty gratitude to Your Excellency for honouring all here assembled with your presence this evening. It is exceedingly good of you sir to have come down from the cool air of the Peak to the great heat on the lower level of the City, especially as recently Your Excellency was somewhat indisposed. I very sincerely appreciate the honour you have conferred upon me. Will you believe me, gentlemen, that the ordeal through which I have passed during the last few days, while it has its pleasant features, is one of the saddest in the whole of my life's experience. It is flattering to man's self-esteem to know that he has earned the respect and good-will of his fellow men. Most heartily, I thank the Chinese Community of Hongkong for the high honour they have done me in holding this magnificent banquet in my honour, and you Mr. Leung Shiu Kong for the over-generous manner in which you have referred to my career in the Past. I assure you, gentlemen, these outward manifestations of your good-will and esteem awaken a deep sense of sadness when I reflect that the end may probably have come to our intimate personal intercourse. Our Bank's dealings and transactions with the commercial Chinese have been such that I have been led to form a very high estimate of their characteristics. No one can hold them in higher esteem than I do, and this is no empty phrase or flattery. I am simply echoing what has been said by all writers on China whose opinion is worth valuing and I speak that which I know. The Chinaman of commerce is essentially a man of enterprise, resource and integrity, he is instinct with the qualities which lead to personal and national greatness; and firmly believe that once these commercial instincts pervade the politics of Peking a new force will enter the international arena, and developments hitherto undreamt of will restore China to her ancient position of prestige and prosperity. Gentlemen in the pressure of business and the rush of work consequent upon my unexpected and sudden recall to London, in consequence of the death of the Bank's senior Manager, there has not been time for me to prepare a suitable and adequate reply to our Chairman's eloquent speech. Therefore I will try to compress my remarks into the briefest possible space, in my endeavour to acknowledge your present kindness. I will not attempt to follow the Chairman's references to the details of my early career, but I would say that whatever little success I may have achieved in life, is due to the careful training I received from those it was my privilege to serve in youth. Of my twenty-eight years' experience East of Suez, I will ever retain the most pleasant recollections and cherish the happiest memories. Since I first came to China in 1875, many changes have been witnessed which are only the forerunners of still more stupendous changes. Japan has risen rapidly to a position of first class importance. What this intelligent and versatile people have accomplished, China may eventually eclipse. China has a history of great achievements behind her, and a people at once the most industrious and the most peaceable when wisely and righteously governed. In the prosperous times ahead, you in Hongkong will participate to the fullest extent. Her under the flag of the British Empire, as you, Mr. Chairman have remarked, there are many races and nationalities. On these well-favoured shores all are welcome to trade with a free and not excelled elsewhere. If I may be permitted to throw out a suggestion to our Chinese friends, it is this, that in the changing conditions of Hongkong the Chinese community will loyally render the Government assistance to clear the Colony of the things which have blighted our commerce for years since 1894, and to reconstruct Victoria upon healthier and more modern lines. Mr. Chairman, than heretofore, Mr. Chairman, good enough to allude to my Legislative Council. To feel that one of our inner circle has been debarred to do his best, more is to me an advantage than to be assured that he is represented by my fellow countrymen. I am sure that the healthy opposition and efficient aid to efficient satisfaction in our little but beneficial fair of the colony will be a great help to the Government.

MR. WHITEHEAD'S REPLY.

In rising to respond, the Hon. T. H. Whitehead, was received with a loud outburst of applause. After it had subsided he said:—
Mr. Chairman and friends—I am sure you will all heartily agree with me in the reason and cause that prevent our esteemed friend Mr. Ho Tung from being present with us to-night. I saw him two days ago on his sick-bed, and he then assured me that if the doctors would allow him he would be with us to-night. It is exceedingly good of you sir to have come down from the cool air of the Peak to the great heat on the lower level of the City, especially as recently Your Excellency was somewhat indisposed. I very sincerely appreciate the honour you have conferred upon me. Will you believe me, gentlemen, that the ordeal through which I have passed during the last few days, while it has its pleasant features, is one of the saddest in the whole of my life's experience. It is flattering to man's self-esteem to know that he has earned the respect and good-will of his fellow men. Most heartily, I thank the Chinese Community of Hongkong for the high honour they have done me in holding this magnificent banquet in my honour, and you Mr. Leung Shiu Kong for the over-generous manner in which you have referred to my career in the Past. I assure you, gentlemen, these outward manifestations of your good-will and esteem awaken a deep sense of sadness when I reflect that the end may probably have come to our intimate personal intercourse. Our Bank's dealings and transactions with the commercial Chinese have been such that I have been led to form a very high estimate of their characteristics. No one can hold them in higher esteem than I do, and this is no empty phrase or flattery. I am simply echoing what has been said by all writers on China whose opinion is worth valuing and I speak that which I know. The Chinaman of commerce is essentially a man of enterprise, resource and integrity, he is instinct with the qualities which lead to personal and national greatness; and firmly believe that once these commercial instincts pervade the politics of Peking a new force will enter the international arena, and developments hitherto undreamt of will restore China to her ancient position of prestige and prosperity. Gentlemen in the pressure of business and the rush of work consequent upon my unexpected and sudden recall to London, in consequence of the death of the Bank's senior Manager, there has not been time for me to prepare a suitable and adequate reply to our Chairman's eloquent speech. Therefore I will try to compress my remarks into the briefest possible space, in my endeavour to acknowledge your present kindness. I will not attempt to follow the Chairman's references to the details of my early career, but I would say that whatever little success I may have achieved in life, is due to the careful training I received from those it was my privilege to serve in youth. Of my twenty-eight years' experience East of Suez, I will ever retain the most pleasant recollections and cherish the happiest memories. Since I first came to China in 1875, many changes have been witnessed which are only the forerunners of still more stupendous changes. Japan has risen rapidly to a position of first class importance. What this intelligent and versatile people have accomplished, China may eventually eclipse. China has a history of great achievements behind her, and a people at once the most industrious and the most peaceable when wisely and righteously governed. In the prosperous times ahead, you in Hongkong will participate to the fullest extent. Her under the flag of the British Empire, as you, Mr. Chairman have remarked, there are many races and nationalities. On these well-favoured shores all are welcome to trade with a free and not excelled elsewhere. If I may be permitted to throw out a suggestion to our Chinese friends, it is this, that in the changing conditions of Hongkong the Chinese community will loyally render the Government assistance to clear the Colony of the things which have blighted our commerce for years since 1894, and to reconstruct Victoria upon healthier and more modern lines. Mr. Chairman, than heretofore, Mr. Chairman, good enough to allude to my Legislative Council. To feel that one of our inner circle has been debarred to do his best, more is to me an advantage than to be assured that he is represented by my fellow countrymen. I am sure that the healthy opposition and efficient aid to efficient satisfaction in our little but beneficial fair of the colony will be a great help to the Government.

MR. WHITEHEAD'S REPLY.

In rising to respond, the Hon. T. H. Whitehead, was received with a loud outburst of applause. After it had subsided he said:—
Mr. Chairman and friends—I am sure you will all heartily agree with me in the reason and cause that prevent our esteemed friend Mr. Ho Tung from being present with us to-night. I saw him two days ago on his sick-bed, and he then assured me that if the doctors would allow him he would be with us to-night. I especially deplore his absence because he, one of my oldest friends in Hongkong and a man of highly esteem. (Applause.) I trust sincerely that he will soon be restored to his usual good health, inasmuch as he may safely be regarded as one of the pillars of progress and one of the pillars of Hongkong. (Applause.) Before attempting to reply to the eloquent speech to which we have just listened, I desire to cordially express my hearty gratitude to Your Excellency for honouring all here assembled with your presence this evening. It is exceedingly good of you sir to have come down from the cool air of the Peak to the great heat on the lower level of the City, especially as recently Your Excellency was somewhat indisposed. I very sincerely appreciate the honour you have conferred upon me. Will you believe me, gentlemen, that the ordeal through which I have passed during the last few days, while it has its pleasant features, is one of the saddest in the whole of my life's experience. THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY.

THE THERAPION.
This successful and highly popular remedy, as employed in the Continental Hospitals by Ricord, Rostan, Jobert, Velpeau, and others, combines all the desiderata to be sought in a medicine of the kind, and surpasses everything hitherto employed.

THERAPION No. 1, in a few days only, removes all discharges from the urinary organs, effectually superseding injections, the use of which does irreparable harm by laying the foundation of stricture and other serious diseases. In dysentery, piles, irritation of the lower bowel, cough, bronchitis, asthma, and some of the more trying complaints of this kind, it will be found astonishingly efficacious, affording prompt relief where other well-tried remedies have been powerless.

THERAPION No. 2, for impurity of the blood, scurvy, pimples, spots, blotches, pains and swellings of the joints, secondary symptoms, disease of the bones, sore throat, and all diseases for which it has been too much, a fashion to employ mercury, sarsaparilla, &c., to the destruction of the sufferer's teeth and ruin of health. This preparation purifies the whole system through the blood, and thoroughly eliminates every poisonous matter from the body.

THERAPION No. 3, for nervous exhaustion, waste of vitality, and all the distressing consequences arising from early error, excess, residence in hot, unhealthy climates, &c. It possesses surprising power in restoring strength and vigour to the debilitated.

THERAPION may be procured of the principal Chemists and Merchants throughout the world. Price in England 2/9 and 4/6. In ordering, the purchaser should state which of the three numbers he requires, and observe that the word "THERAPION" appears on the Government Stamp (in white letters on a red ground) affixed to every genuine package by order of Her Majesty's Hon. Commissioners, and without which it is spurious.
